

METHOD FOR CREATING A HUMAN RE-SOURCES AND BENEFITS WEBSITE

Abstract

An apparatus and method, referred to as MyHROnline, for providing employers with an easy, online way to create information about Benefits, Policies and Procedures and to make Benefit and Policy/procedures information available to their employees or others to whom they wish to offer access, such as job seekers (together, those will be referred to as "Employees"). You are not limited to the pre-programmed information. The wizard allows you to edit the pre-programmed information and/or create your own information about any benefit or policy that you would like and place the information on an interactive web site accessible by the employees. The site is as expansive or limited as you desire. MyHROnline lets you provide the information you want to your employees, then simply click "go live" to make the information available to your workforce. The site is fully hosted by the myHROnline server site and is available to your workforce 24/7.
